

9 April 2025

The Center for Constitutional Studies and Democratic Development (CCSDD) at the Johns Hopkins University SAIS Europe, Bologna, is pleased to announce the new Annual Summer School on European Union and Legal Reform, which will be organized in Petrovac, Montenegro, from June 29 – July 5, 2025.

The Summer School brings together students, scholars and young legal practitioners from all around Europe to study the constitutional implications of European Union expansion. It provides a forum through which knowledge is exchanged, discussion is encouraged and young leaders work to improve the legal environment of Central and Eastern Europe and to smooth the process of accession to the EU.

We hope that you will assist us in recruiting motivated and prepared students from your institution to apply to our program. The application deadline is May 1st, 2025. The link for the online application is available here.

The School recruits final year students, graduate students and PhD in Law and Political Science from around Europe with a good knowledge of English and a strong interest in analyzing and discussing the above-mentioned subjects.

You can find additional details about the program at www.ccsdd.org. However, please do not hesitate to contact us at info@ccsdd.org should you need any additional information.

We look forward to your prompt reply and thank you in advance for your assistance and co-operation.

All the best,

CCSDD Team